

Feature User Stories

1. As an international applicant requiring work authorization, I want explicit details on H-1B transfer sponsorship and green card processing timelines so that I can ensure legal work eligibility before applying.
2. As an applicant contemplating a physical move, I want to see relocation package details and temporary housing stipends so that I can determine if relocating for the job is financially viable.
3. As an applicant with accessibility needs, I want clear instructions on requesting interview accommodations and screen-reader compliant materials so that I can participate fully in the hiring process.
4. As a long-term contractor looking for stability, I want transparent criteria for converting into a full-time employee so that I can evaluate permanent career advancement potential.
5. As an applicant referred by a current employee, I want a dedicated referral code input field during application submission so that my profile receives internal employee endorsement.
6. As a junior professional seeking guidance, I want information on formal mentorship matching programs and peer pairing so that I can assess opportunities for ongoing skill development.
7. As a candidate reviewing equity packages, I want transparent equity cliff terms and stock option vesting schedules so that I can project long-term financial benefits.
8. As a new hire planning my transition, I want a structured 90-day onboarding curriculum outlining key milestones so that I know how performance and success will be measured.
9. As a remote applicant setting up a workspace, I want information on company-provided hardware and home office equipment stipends so that I know I will have the necessary tools to perform the job.
10. As a candidate balancing full-time employment, I want options for asynchronous coding assessments or flexible interview scheduling slots so that I can complete the evaluation around my work hours.
